After being admitted to the Nevada Bar in 2019, David began his legal career in Landlord-Tenant Law where he was in a courtroom for summary eviction proceedings three to five days each week. In law school, David, along with his partner, was the winner of the law school's appellate advocacy moot court competition. Along with the competition victory, David and his partner won Best Brief. After his first year in law school, David spent the summer abroad while enrolled in an International Human Rights program. This program brought him to Chile, Argentina, and South Africa to study Human Rights violations that have occurred in the histories of each of those countries.
